OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

Market Review. Global equities declined in December, with the MSCI All Country World Index posting a -2.1% return for the month. In the US, the S&P 500 dropped -2.0%, as investor sentiment weakened due to expectations of fewer policy rate cuts in 2025, driven by sticky inflation. US inflation, measured by the consumer price index (CPI), rose in November to 2.7% from 2.6% previous month. Despite this, the Federal Reserve (Fed) implemented its third 25bps interest rate reduction of the year. Meanwhile, the US economy added 227,000 jobs in November, rebounding sharply from October's 36,000 jobs gain. The composite purchasing managers index (PMI) increased to 55.4 in December from 54.9 previous month, signaling private-sector expansion, led by a rise in the services PMI to 56.8 from 56.1, though manufacturing PMI slipped to 49.4 from 49.7. In Europe, the MSCI Europe Index declined by -1.0%. Although the European Central Bank (ECB) cut its deposit rate by 25bps as expected, they warned about the slowing growth in the Eurozone, emphasizing the need for stronger consumer spending and business investment to sustain recovery. In Japan, equities rose for the month, with the TOPIX gaining 4.0%, supported by a weaker yen that benefited export-focused industries. Emerging market equities remained flat, with the MSCI Emerging Market Index returning 0.2% following China's announcement of plans for increased public borrowing and spending in 2025. The MSCI ACWI Information Technology 10/40 Index returned 0.5% for the month.

Fund Performance. The fund returned 2.61% in December, outperforming the benchmark by 12 basis points. Security selection within the target fund helped performance.

Fund Strategy. We believe the fundamentals of the technology companies we invest are strong. Weakness in the technology sector this summer was driven by weaker-than-expected US economic data, drastic currency movements, and a debate around the ROI of AI-related spending. This heightened volatility is typical for the sector when compared to history and creates a constructive backdrop for active stock picking. We still believe that we are in the early stages of the AI era, which will drive exponential growth and value creation in the tech sector and beyond. AI is the next frontier of innovation and is one of the biggest singular technology trends that the global economy has seen. The opportunity it presents to investors is significant and will continue to a dynamic we've seen over the past three decades: the technology sector's superior growth to all other sectors as it has disrupted existing industries and created new markets. While the initial beneficiaries of the AI theme have been mega-cap tech names building the physical infrastructure required to train generative AI models, we see a variety of opportunities in companies aligned with the theme going forward. We maintain our exposure to long-term secular themes within the portfolio, such as artificial intelligence, cloud computing, and electric vehicles, as well as more nascent themes such as metaverse, space, and quantum computing.
