OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

Market Review. Global equities posted positive returns in November with the MSCI All Country World Index returning 3.8%. In the US, the S&P advanced 5.9%, buoyed by improved investor sentiment following Donald Trump's presidential election victory. The Federal Reserve lowered interest rates by 25 basis points, while US consumer price index (CPI) inflation increased to 2.6% in October from 2.4%. Job creation slowed significantly, with only 12,000 jobs added in October, below the 106,000 forecast and the previous month's 223,000 added jobs, largely due to adverse weather conditions and the Boeing strike. The composite purchasing managers' index (PMI) figure for November rose to 54.9 from 54.1 previous month, with services PMI of 56.1 from 55.0, and manufacturing PMI of 49.7 from 48.5. In Europe, the MSCI Europe Index rose 1.1% despite concerns over potential US tariff increases and ongoing political instability in France. Eurozone headline inflation climbed to 2.3% in October from 2.0%, largely driven by higher energy prices. Japanese equities recorded a slight decline, with the TOPIX slipping 0.5%. A weaker yen provided some support, but worries over potential US tariffs weighed on the outlook for exporters. Emerging market equities declined, with the MSCI Emerging Market Index falling by 3.6% as the region faced pressure from US trade policies and a strengthening of the US dollar. The MSCI ACWI Information Technology 10/40 Index returned 4.3% for the month.

Fund Performance. The fund returned 4.70% in November, outperforming the benchmark by 38 basis points. Security selection within the target fund helped performance.

Fund Strategy. We believe the fundamentals of the technology companies we invest are strong. Weakness in the technology sector this summer was driven by weaker-than-expected US economic data, drastic currency movements, and a debate around the ROI of AI-related spending. This heightened volatility is typical for the sector when compared to history and creates a constructive backdrop for active stock picking. We still believe that we are in the early stages of the AI era, which will drive exponential growth and value creation in the tech sector and beyond. AI is the next frontier of innovation and is one of the biggest singular technology trends that the global economy has seen. The opportunity it presents to investors is significant and will continue to a dynamic we've seen over the past three decades: the technology sector's superior growth to all other sectors as it has disrupted existing industries and created new markets. While the initial beneficiaries of the AI theme have been mega-cap tech names building the physical infrastructure required to train generative AI models, we see a variety of opportunities in companies aligned with the theme going forward. We maintain our exposure to long-term secular themes within the portfolio, such as artificial intelligence, cloud computing, and electric vehicles, as well as more nascent themes such as metaverse, space, and quantum computing.
