OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

Market Review. Asian equities started the year in the red. Returns across Asian markets were mixed. China and Hong Kong depreciated the most, while Malaysia and India appreciated the most. During the month, amid weak investor confidence, China and Hong Kong dragged down due to lack of sufficient policy responses deemed needed to lift corporate and consumer confidence as well as reports of new US restrictions on China's biotech sector. The Malaysian market outperformed despite a challenging environment with exports declining and inflation rising. The Indian market started the year in positive territory, helped by strong local inflows into the market offsetting foreign investor outflows.

Fund Performance. The fund returned -1.65% in January, outperforming the benchmark by 130 basis points. Stock selection in financials detracted from performance as rate sensitive names were affected by markets pricing in a rate cut environment in the future.

Fund Strategy. Headline inflation has fallen across the world as supply chain constraints, energy costs, and commodity scarcity seem mostly resolved and Asia largely continues to have a relatively muted inflation picture. Concerns around intensifying deflationary momentum continued to build in China. While it has become clear that Chinese mass psychology was characterized by diminished animal spirits in 2023, the critical issue is whether this marks a permanent loss of confidence under the current policy backdrop. Although the ongoing pattern of incremental easing is well established, we believe increasingly upbeat official lines from various authorities such as Central Bank, equity market regulators and SOE regulators should not be underestimated. Additionally, the policy tone has been slightly more proactive towards the property sector, including liquidity support to developers and small pockets of demand-side easing. In contrast to China, prospects in other regions look to be more encouraging. In India and Indonesia, while valuations look stretched near term, the two countries supported by policy actions over the last several years look to be enjoying an investment led expansion. Finally, tech heavy North Asia looks increasingly well positioned as the sector positions for the next decade's big trends: structural demand for AI, cloud adoption and EVs all set to drive growth. The fund will continue to invest in equity securities in the Asia Pacific region (excluding Japan) that are expected to pay dividends.
